In Brief

This is a captivating walk which takes you on a kind of voyage of discovery, constantly taking unexpected turns into a new surprising landscape. The route takes you through several forests: the wood after which Walliswood takes its name, the wood just east of Ockley, and Chapel Wood which contains the Church in the Woods, a hidden gem and the subject of other walks in this series.

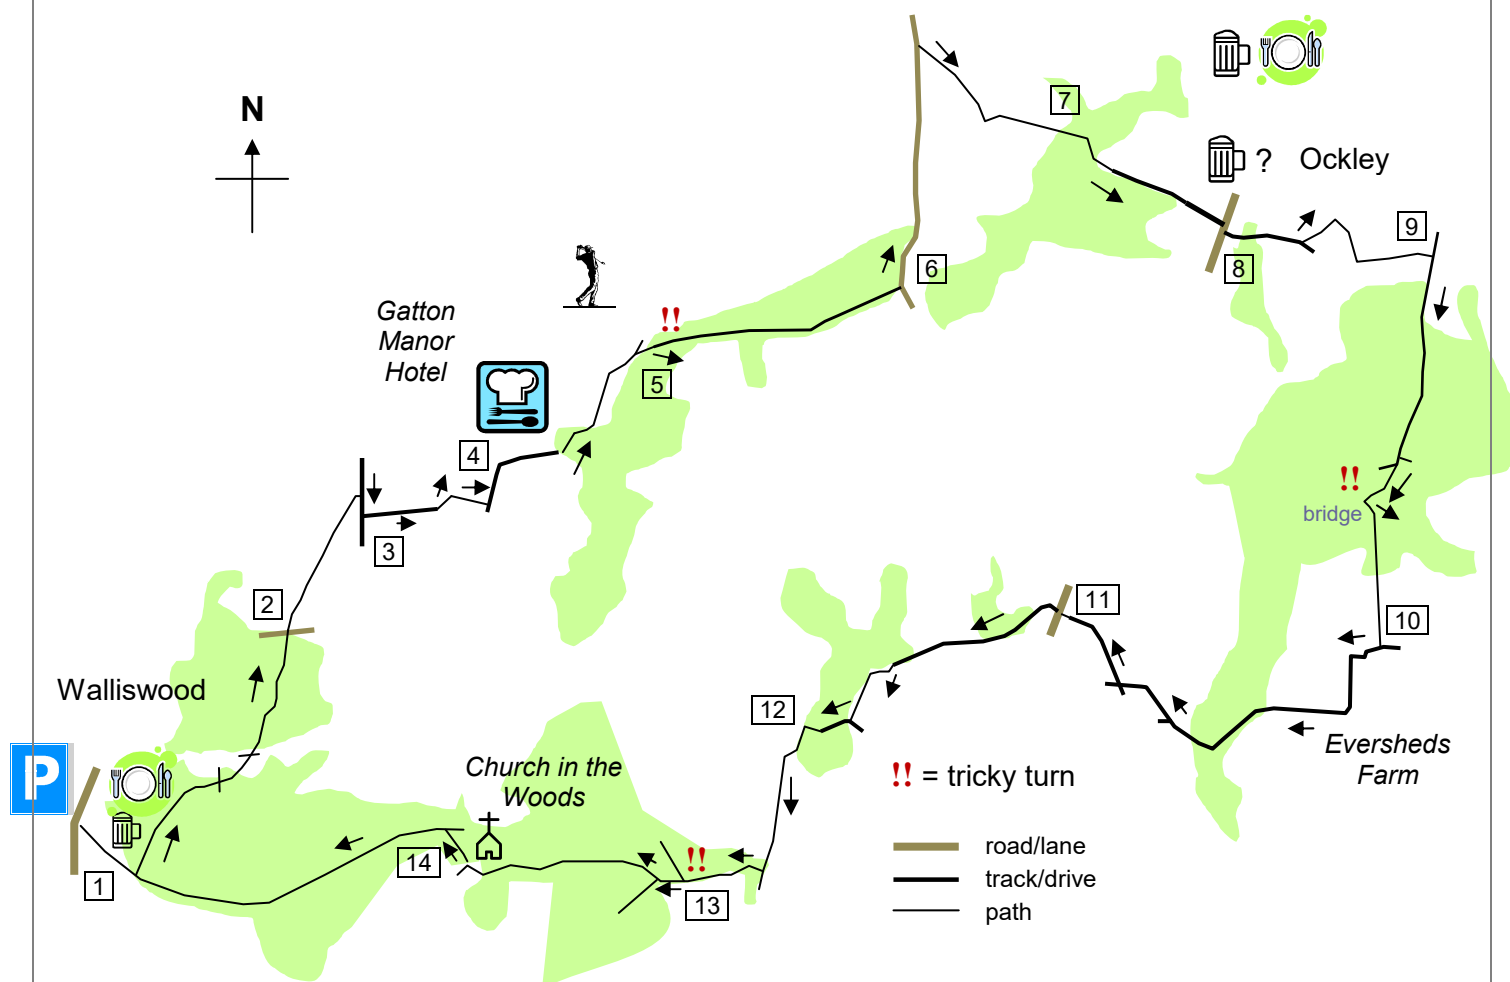

Refreshments are to be had in Walliswood itself, at the iconic Scarlett Arms (ring 01306-627243 for info), at Gatton Manor for a slap-up meal and drinks (see below) and In Ockley, at the Cricketers Arms (call 01306-627205).

The route is along good woodland paths, farm tracks or quiet tarmac, with very little undergrowth, so shorts would be wearable. In the October of 2022, any type of walking shoes were adequate but in damper or wintry conditions boots are necessary. There is one broken stile on this walk but the others are well-made and not too high, so your small or medium dog should enjoy the walk.

The walk begins at the large car parking space opposite the Scarlett Arms in Walliswood, Surrey, www.w3w.co/oxidation.glossed.curries, postcode RH5 5RD. For more details, see at the end of this text (→ Getting There).

The Walk

- 1 Starting in the car park opposite the Scarlett Arms, walk along the road with the pub on your left for only 20m. Just after the entrance to Hill View, go left through a new swing-gate on a narrow footpath into woods. After 150m the path elbows a fraction left. In 25m you come to a fingerpost (partly hidden in a holly bush). Turn left here onto a wide path under tall beeches (skipping round some tree debris). You pass on your left a manège* and the path becomes twisty and takes you down shallow steps into a gulch. A bridge-with-rails leads to a path between wire fences, with a thatched house on your left. You cross a tarmac drive, followed by a rough driveway, with more cottages peeping out through the woods. Keep straight on now under tall oaks, veering slightly right at a marker post, passing under wires. There are more tall oaks and beeches (one fallen and you have to skirt around it). Keep straight ahead over a hump, down to a tarmac lane. (*a smart name for a horse exercise area)
- 2 Cross straight over to a footpath opposite. At the metal gate you have to keep right and left through a wooden swing-gate to continue ahead on a grass path with a meadow on your left. The meadow and little woods here are all part of the Wallis Wood nature reserve, a hidden gem on the Weald Clay. Go over a stile, or through the large metal gate, and continue on a similar grassy path, encountering another stile or open gate, beside two pastures with friendly sheep and horses. Your path bends right through a wooden swing-gate to meet a wide track.

- 3 Turn right on the track. Immediately ignore the first driveway, signed Gatton Manor Farm and turn left on the second straight driveway signed Benbow Stables. At the wooden gate, press a button on the side to open it (it closes automatically). Go diagonally left across a dusty yard and through a large wooden gate into a sand manège (that word again). Cut the corner on the right to go through a small wooden gate and over a stile (care! broken). Keep ahead beside a fence on your right to reach a fingerpost. Turn left on a tarmac drive leading to the Gatton Manor Hotel and Country Club, a major golf resort.

The Manor House dates back to 1728 and was the original Dower House (a kind of swanky “granny flat”) of the Abinger (and Wotton?) Estate. It is now a hotel, famous for golfing, but not exclusive to that. It should be open for drinks or lunch: ring 01306-627555 to enquire.

- 4 Turn right in front of the hotel, ignore a portico on the left and continue on a gravel path through the colourful treegarden of the hotel. Follow the path as it bends left to cross a stone bridge onto one of the golf links. Your route is straight ahead, but the wisest course is to cross the grass diagonally right and follow the fringe of trees on your right. At the far side, turn right over a wide flat concrete bridge onto a wide gravel track leading towards another golf tee. But (important!) go only 25m to leave the track by forking right onto a narrow path into the rhododendrons. [2022: the marker post was grounded, making this vital turn easy to miss!]

- 5 Your path takes you past a large wooden gate to reach a wide gravel driveway coming from a house with an ornate metal gate. Keep straight ahead on the driveway (called New Barn Lane). In nearly 200m, ignore a fingerpost on your left and keep straight on. You join a tarmac drive coming from a couple of houses on the right. In a short distance there is another fingerpost and its left turn a few metres beyond. Ignore these (the “short cut” across the golf course is too awkward). Stay on the driveway for a further 350m, passing New Barn and other houses on your right, to end at a tarmac lane (Mole Street).

- 6 Turn left on the lane. Soon you have a nice clear view of Leith Hill tower ahead.

You pass a footpath on the left and the entrance to Parklands Farm on your right. After 500m or so on this quiet lane, as you approach a double-gabled house, Parklands, turn sharp right through a modern kissing-gate into a grassy meadow. Take a faint path diagonally across the grass, heading a little to the left of a large oak (the healthy oak on the right: the other one is ailing). Go through a gap and along the left-hand edge of a large meadow, towards a farmhouse. Turn left in front of a shed and keep round to the right, along the right-hand side of a large meadow.

- 7 Near the end, go through a small improvised wooden gate on a path into woods. Your path goes over a stream and leads up into a field. Immediately fork right to stay close to the trees on your right, on a path which becomes a farm track. Go past a large metal gate and follow a short residential road, leading out to the main A29 Roman road in Ockley.

Ockley, to your left, has two pubs. The Cricketers is only 200m distant; it is open 7 days a week from 11am to 10:30pm Sun Mon Tue Wed and to 11pm Thur Fri Sat. The Inn on the Green is 700m away. The filling station also serves coffee and snacks. A full account of this interesting village will be found in the “Vann Lake” walk in this series.

- 8 Cross the road, turn right for 20m, and turn left on a driveway. A large wooden gate has a small gate on its left to give you access. You pass a large duckpond. Ahead of you is Ockley Windmill (more correctly Elmer's windmill or Almer's Mill), probably still missing its blades and sails. A full account of the windmill will be found in the "Vann Lake" walk in this series. Just before the track bends right towards the windmill, go left at a fingerpost along the left-hand side of a meadow. Turn right in the corner. At the next corner, by a fingerpost, turn left to go through a modern kissing-gate set in the hedge. Keep straight ahead on the main path, across the grass, over a dry ditch, arriving at a crossing path and a 4-way fingerpost.
- 9 Ignoring the stile, turn right on the crossing path, along the left-hand side of the meadow. The path leads you through a modern kissing-gate next to a large metal gate, onto a fine straight woodland path. After 400m or so in the woods, your main path meets a junction of minor paths in a clearing and starts to bend right. Care! The next turn is important! Turn right with the main path but immediately leave it by forking left onto a narrow winding path down into the woods. In 100m or so, the path leads you leftwards over a long bridge-with-rails over a stream. After the bridge, turn left and follow a rising path. You may need to skip over some mud here. The path goes under some tall trees and finally leads over a (bypassable) stile and up the right-hand side of a grass meadow towards Eversheds Farm.
- 10 You emerge onto a farm track. Turn right and follow the main track left-right-left past a brick shed. In 120m the track bends right. It curves left and right in woods, going over a stream and leading to a fork. Avoid the left fork which leads to farm buildings and keep straight ahead up a slope. In 150m you reach a crossing of tracks by some silos. Opposite the first silo, turn right at a blue arrow, through a (usually open) large metal gate, onto a straight track, with another good view of Leith Hill Tower. At the end, a short grassy path leads out to the Roman A29 road again. Note the old sign just before you reach the road about the dire consequences of not shutting the gate.
-  11 Cross straight over the main road onto a bridleway signed Middle Lodge. Keep left to avoid a private gate and follow this wide woodland drive for 400m. Immediately before a large wooden gate belonging to a white cottage, turn left as directed on a narrow path beside a fence with a wooded gulch down on your right. Along the way, as you pass a bench seat, note the touching garden of colourful "flowers" and "insects". Go through a small metal gate and across a grassy space to meet a driveway near Oakwood Mill Farm. Turn right on the driveway, going over a bridge across the Oak Wood Stream, through a large metal gate* and up into a large field. (*If closed, duck under some wooden bars on the right.)
- 12 Immediately turn left along the edge of the field. In the corner, turn right and immediately left over a 2-plank bridge and a stile. Continue ahead on a grassy path in a lovely sloping meadow, always staying close to a hedge on your right. Within 200m you enter a more densely wooded area. In about 25m you come to a junction of woodland tracks. Turn sharp right here on a path which leads up out of the wood into another fine green meadow. The author met a lovely group of shy heifers in the wood who quietly led the way up into the pasture where they usually graze. In the far corner, go over a stile onto a woodland path into Chapel Copse. In 50m you reach a marker post with yellow arrows.

- 13 Turn left for only 20m to meet another post with yellow arrows. Ignore the more prominent left turn here and instead go straight ahead on a rather narrow path which will lead you direct to the Church-in-the-Woods. In 40m you are joined by a footpath coming from the left and your path widens. Follow this path gradually uphill, soon passing a meadow visible on your left. A short distance further, you see a cemetery, meet a path from the left and come down to the Church of St John the Baptist, Okewood. Cross straight over the drive, passing a stone crucifix and the side of the church.

A full interesting history of this gem of a church will be found in the neighbouring "Okewood Hill Pub Walk".

- 14 Turn right in the corner to reach the west door and immediately turn left on a path made of "stepping stones". Go through a small wooden gate, down steps and across a long bridge-with-rails on a deep woodland path, reaching a T-junction alongside a stream. Turn left, passing a sign for Kiln Copse. Cross the wooden bridge-with-rails straight ahead, avoiding the one on your right. This good woodland path runs slightly uphill, with the stream down on your left. It becomes a wide path between wire fences. It zigzags right-left near the corner of a meadow (used as a playing field by the residents of Walliswood). Ignore a junction on your right, familiar from your outward journey. In no time at all, you are back in the village, near the Scarlett Arms, where the walk began.

Less than a mile east of Walliswood, just off Standen Lane, is the Hannah Peschar Sculpture Garden, an unexpected gem, consisting of lakes and woodland with a large display of outdoor sculpture by leading artists. Allow time as you can easily spend two hours here. (Compare the Churt Sculpture Garden on the Frensham Little Pond walk). Open April to October, postcode RH5 5QU, modest entrance fee.

Getting there

By car: the easiest way to Walliswood is through Okewood Hill (or Oakwoodhill) which is signposted off the A29 (Bognor Road), just over 1 mile south of Ockley, about 8 miles south of Dorking. At Oakwood Hill, take the right fork, as for Walliswood, Forest Green. After 1 mile, bear right at a junction. The pub is a short distance on your right. Park in the area opposite the pub.

By bus: bus 545 from Guildford and other smaller rail stations. Check the timetables (or ring the pub).
