In Brief

This is a delightful and peaceful walk through the woods and meadows and over hills of a relatively unknown corner of West Sussex. It is a perfect winter walk, also ideal in spring or late autumn when the paths are not too overgrown. It runs for part of its way on two important national trails, the New Lipchis Way, which runs from the Hampshire border down to the sea in Chichester, and the Serpent Trail, a snaking route taking in woodland and heath from Haslemere to Petersfield.

As always, boots are advisable, although good walking shoes are enough in dry conditions. There are some nettles along the paths in summer making shorts uncomfortable. This walk is fine for a small or medium sized dog but a large one will have trouble with some of the stiles.

The walk begins at the Linch Road Woolbeding Common car park just south of Redford, West Sussex, nearest postcode GU29 0QH, grid ref SU 863 254. For more details, see at the end of this text (→ Getting There).

The Walk

Leg 1: Woolbeding Common to Iping 3½ km=2 miles

- 1 See map overleaf. Take the obvious track leading out of the car park to the left of the National Trust sign. Follow this track which is the New Lipchis Way (NLW), ignoring all turn offs. The signs for the New Lipchis Way use very indistinct grey arrows and if they have become faded it is best to remember that they point through the "C" of "Lipchis". Continue to a crossing with several finger posts. Keep ahead, still on NLW. The track comes out onto a drive with a fingerpost on the right. Continue ahead on the drive, passing another fingerpost. There are two beautiful houses on the right and the drive becomes tarmac at a third house on the left. Just past this house, turn right at a signpost, still following NLW.

Map

- 2 Follow this beautiful high wooded path. You pass a private lake and a small car park on the right. Nearly  $\frac{1}{2}$  km after the car park, you will see a house down on your right in the river valley as you reach a marker post. Turn right here downhill, still on the NLW 2015: [past a fallen tree, easily avoidable]. Don't miss this turn! At the bottom, turn immediately left on a wide track coming from the house. In 150m, next to the entrance to Ash House, go straight over the tarmac to a fingerpost opposite and continue on a footpath, still on the NLW. In 10m, your path goes left up a bank.
- 3 The path is a bit overgrown but well trodden and soon widens, going downhill under beeches, and reaches a road by a field with horse jumps. Turn right for 20m on the road, then left into a field which also contains horse jumps. Follow the left hand side of the field, over a low stile, to another stile which can be avoided by going through a gap in the hedge. Continue along the left hand side of the next field swinging right towards a church, visible ahead, to reach a road in the village of Iping. As a pleasant diversion, most of this picturesque village is on your left. For more details, see the other walk in this series: Woolbeding Common and the Temple of the Winds.

Leg 2: Iping to Borden 4½ km=3 miles

- 4 Continue straight ahead through a small metal gate on a footpath through the churchyard, thus leaving the NLW. This is St Mary's Iping, a pretty Church, but sometimes closed. Follow the path around to the back of the Church and cross a stile into a field. Cross straight over the field heading slightly to the left of a tree visible ahead. There is a way marker there directing you left along the far edge. In about 20m, in the corner, there is a finger post half hidden in the hedge by a wooden gate. Turn right through this gate and follow the field along the left hand side to the far end and turn right, still along the hedge, to meet a way marker half way along the field edge. Turn left here through a gap in the hedge.
- 5 There is a wooden bridge over a stream with two metal rails and a chain at each end. This is to keep livestock, not you, off the bridge. It is easier to step over the chain than under it. Cross the bridge into a field and go straight ahead through an electric fence, easily crossed using two removable hooks. Now head for a stile in the hedge opposite. It is a little to the left, under an electricity pole about 30m from the corner. Cross the [2015: broken] stile and continue ahead in a rough field. The field narrows at the far end where there is a metal gate, or a stile in case the gate is locked. Go out of the field, over a rickety stile, past farm buildings and keep left on a farm track which leads to a road. Opposite you is the small late Saxon/Early Norman Church of St Mary's Chithurst. This interesting little church is well worth a visit and is usually open.
- 6 Turn right on the road and, in 20m, left on a footpath which runs beside the church and looks like a front drive. This leads to a car park and runs along the wisteria covered wall of Chithurst Manor which is a Buddhist Retreat Centre. Go through some woodland for about 20m and cross a stile into a field. Continue ahead over a bank heading for a hedge of wild roses. Go through a gap in the hedge and cross a three-step stile into a field. Turn right up the side of the field following a vague path through long grass.
- 7 After about 100m, a marker post directs you right down over a four-step stile and left on a path through woods. You reach a wide track via two redundant broken stiles. There is a three-way fingerpost here, marked Restricted Byway. Turn left on the byway. When, in over 200m, your track comes out into the open and curves right, cross straight over a sandy farm track and bear left on a narrow path beside a wire fence, thus regaining your original direction. Follow this straight path for over ½ km to reach a tarmac lane. Turn left on the lane.
- 8 About 200m along the lane, you meet a finger post pointing right saying Restricted Byway. Turn sharp right here on a rough sheltered lane, to reach Cumbers Farm in 250m where the tarmac ends. Continue onwards on the track for ½ km to reach a T junction with another finger post also saying Restricted Byway. Turn right and continue for nearly 1 km, going over a crossing track and through a wood [2016: round a fallen tree]. Eventually you reach a road junction in the hamlet of Borden.

Leg 3: Borden to Titty Hill 3½ km=2 miles

- 9 Turn right on the road and immediately fork left on a sandy track. You are now on the Serpent Trail (ST). In about 20m fork left at a fingerpost still following the ST. The pleasant track [Nov 2013: with some fallen trees, easily negotiated] continues downhill through a pinewood, goes over a crossing track and leads to a road. Turn right on the road and follow it for 300m to a T junction. Cross straight over, slightly left, on a tarmac drive. The drive takes you over a bridge, passing Kingsham Cottages and Old Farm on your left, and through a small wooden gate. Continue for another 100m through a wood passing a metal gate on your right marked Private. Immediately fork left over a stile by a fingerpost into a field, still following the ST.
- 10 Cross the field diagonally to a stile and a gravel track leading into another wood. In 60m, ignore an unmarked path on the right. Shortly after, where the main track veers left, keep straight ahead on a path going slightly uphill through Kingsham Wood. The path eventually leads over a stile into a field beyond. Cross a small wooden bridge or, if very muddy, bypass it to the right. The field is very marshy but the path is reasonable. Keep ahead along the right-hand side of the field and then straight aiming for a gap in a line of trees ahead. Go through them to a stile leading to a road, Iping Road. On the right, as a brief diversion, is an isolated cemetery.
- 11 Cross the road to another stile and into a field. Head for a finger post on the right in the field and keep straight on up the field, ignoring the indicated left fork. Follow the right side of the field with a wood on your right with great views left to Milland and the Hangers (see the walk Durford Heath and Milland Mill in this series). Eventually you come to a stile in the far right hand corner. Cross the stile and turn left on a narrow path to a finger post in the fence. Turn right here through a wooden gate and then an iron gate onto a drive in the hamlet of Queens Corner. Turn left then right with the drive and leave it by the entrance to a house, Hillside Cottage, over a stile, onto a path into woods. Follow the path through the wood to a house ahead where the path veers left and finally emerges onto a driveway at Titty Hill.

Leg 4. Titty Hill to Woolbeding Common 1½ km=1 mile

- 12 Bear right passing the hamlet's large grassy space and turn left at a junction on a wide driveway. In 30m, turn right at a marker post into woods again. In just over 250m, at a fingerpost, turn right on another woodland path. In 200m, you reach two fingerposts by a multiple junction of paths at the start of a more open area. Turn right at the first fingerpost, thus leaving the ST, and keep straight ahead past the second fingerpost. In 20m, at a third fingerpost, ignore the path forking left across the centre of the clearing and keep straight on with the woods on your right. Follow the path through woodland and bracken, going over a two-plank bridge to reach a fingerpost 10m later. Keep straight ahead.
- 13 The terrain is bracken and suddenly dark woods. As you gradually approach a bank on your right, turn right over the bank and left on a path on the other side. You pass a post with a yellow arrow confirming that you are on the correct route. [Apr 2015: there is a fallen tree by the marker post which makes finding the path ahead confusing. The tree itself is not a problem. The path was exceedingly muddy and waterlogged and, if you walk alongside to avoid this, you need to keep a smart eye on the path to see where it goes!] At a four-way fingerpost, keep straight ahead, avoiding the left fork. 50m after the four-way fingerpost, you meet a wide grassy unmarked path. Turn left on this path. The path goes up through bracken, then more steeply and meets a rough driveway. Turn right on it and immediately left, through a new metal gate, on a path uphill. This clear path through more bracken reaches a T-junction, via another new metal gate. Turn left here on a track, the same as the track you took at the start. It leads you quickly back to the car park where the walk began.

For final refreshments, the "Rising Sun" in Milland is a quite excellent nearby inn, open all day at weekends, occasionally serving wild boar, with a selection of brews including Red Fox.

Getting there

By car: To get to Redford from the London area, take the A3 and turn off through Liphook. (From London, this is through the Hindhead tunnel.) At a tortuous series of mini-roundabouts and larger ones, keep following signs for Liphook Station and/or the Hollycombe Steam Collection (with a brown tourist sign showing a merry-go-round). This will take you onto the Midhurst Road out of the town. The road goes over a railway bridge, past Iron Hill and the Steam Collection, and under an arch. About 3 miles from Liphook, ignore a left turn for Fernhurst. After 0.4 miles, turn left on a lane signposted Redford and/or Linch Church. The road goes past this interesting little church and after a mile it goes through Redford, as indicated by the welcome sign. The car park is on the right, about  $\frac{3}{4}$  mile after Redford village.
