Green meadows, streams and bridges, woodland, pub

In Brief

This is a gentle country walk peppered by numerous bridges over gurgling streams. The Owl, at the start and end of this walk, is a good roadhouse, a clean chalet-style freehouse, with a well-thought-out menu offering a "most excellent lunch" and a good selection of drinks, especially Cornish pale ale. Ideal for all the family. It offers a lighter (and lighter on the wallet) lunchtime Club menu which includes a drink. It is open practically all the time.

There are some nettles and brambles on this walk, chiefly clogging the stiles, especially in summer when the undergrowth proliferates, so bare legs may be a problem. Some stiles are in bad condition. As always, boots are much better than walking shoes in wintry or damp conditions. The one or two awkward stiles make this walk all right for a small-to-medium dog and older children.

The walk begins at the Owl inn on the main A24 Dorking-Worthing road, not far from Horsham, W.Sussex, www.w3w.co/soccer.domain.abolish, postcode RH12 3SA. It seems ok to use the large car park provided that you are a patron of the pub (consuming food and/or drink) and do not over-monopolise the space on a busy day. An alternative start, placing the pub at the centre, is in Friday St., Rusper, postcode RH12 4QA, where there is plenty of roadside parking. For more details, see at the end of this text (→ Getting There).

The Walk

- 1 Exit the Owl's carpark at the back and turn right onto Marches Road. In only 50m, turn left on a signed footpath going past a gate for Tickfold Farm. Follow this long tarmac drive until, about 30m before the ancient farmhouse, you meet a fingerpost. Turn right here to go along the left-hand side of a field next to a barn. Note the unusual windvane on the farm building. Just after the first corner follow the signs left, over a bridge and right along the right-hand edge of a field. At the next corner, at a 3-way fingerpost, keep straight ahead into a smaller field and follow the right-hand edge under oak trees. Just to the left of the next corner, go through a new swing-gate, over a 2-plank bridge and down over another bridge across the Tickfold Gill, with wild garlic growing in abundance. Continue up into a large grassy meadow, soon going through a metal gate onto a path between wire fences. You pass a large pond on your left. At the end, turn left on a concrete track uphill between two ponds, towards Wattlehurst Farmhouse. You are now in Surrey for a short stretch.
- 2 Before the farm, at the top of the track you reach a fingerposted junction. Turn immediately right here through a metal gate on a bridleway which is also part of the Sussex Border Path (SBP). The bridleway (which must be hard for horses to navigate) quickly takes you along the left-hand side of a pasture for sheep (guarded by an alpaca whenever the sheep are in residence). At the far side, another metal gate takes you into the woodland of Grove Copse, passing a small pond on your right. Go through a new metal gate into a long thin meadow uphill under wires. At the top, by a new

4 Veer left up the meadow beside a wire fence on your right. A small metal gate leads you straight across the next meadow to another small metal gate. You are back in W.Sussex. Cross a track with a 2-plank bridge on each side, and a stile 2014: [like the next few, rather overgrown, so take care!], into a sheep meadow, keeping ahead along the short right-hand side. Go through two metal gates with a 2-plank bridge in between and keep ahead along the right-hand side of a large meadow. On your left is a large copse and on your right some anglers' ponds. A small metal gate leads you through a band of trees and straight across the next meadow. As you near the far edge, avoid a path through a gate on your right and keep left along the right-hand edge which curves left and leads you through a gap into another meadow. Keep ahead beside a large wooden gate near houses and veer right on a stony driveway to a lane (Friday Street).

5 Cross the lane, turn right and then immediately left onto a narrow path beside a brook. Cross a wooden bridge with rails (care! some planks are rotten) over the Boldings Brook onto a path between fences. You are soon in an oak woodland with plentiful bluebells in late spring. As you go through another small wooden gate you are in a magnificent large meadow dominated by lines of trees. In 30m, turn right, in the direction of a new fingerpost, and follow a line of large oaks. The white building to your left is part of Rusper Nunnery, so called as it stands on the site of Rusper Priory, a Benedictine establishment dating from the 1200s, dissolved by – you guessed it – Henry VIII. The footpath leads you down into trees, over a [2017:broken] stile or a low wire fence, across a bridge over a stream and up steps ascending a steep bank. A rickety stile takes you into a meadow with a 4-way fingerpost.

6 Take the right fork, going diagonally across the meadow on a faint path. Oct 2020: some walkers encountered some inquisitive cattle in this section and avoided them by going to the left, along a small wooded area beside the stream, diverting over wire fences, across a drive and into the adjacent sheep field. In the far corner, go through a swing-gate and straight across the meadow to find a marker post and stile [2025: repaired but now more like a slatted fence: take care!] on the other side. Veer left to cross this bluebell wood, including a stream using a 2-plank bridge with a rail. A stile and 2-plank bridge takes you into a crop field. Go straight across the field, cross a stile and a plank bridge in the hedge. Veer diagonally left across the meadow through a 5-bar metal gate. In the corner, go through a small wooden gate and along the left-hand side of a horse pasture [Feb 2021: walkers with dogs report one of the horses is very excitable: owner has taken action so this should not recur]. Another stile [Sep 2022: broken: take care descending!] next to a fingerpost takes you onto a tarmac lane. Turn left on the lane.

7 In 100m, just before a house, go right on a tarmac drive marked as a footpath. At the start of a wire fence on your right, go through a wooden swing-gate into an orchard leading towards a house, Blackfriars. Keep to the right-hand side, aiming to the right of the house. Go through a new wooden gate and turn left as directed by a marker post. The house has two very friendly dogs who may accompany the visitor all the way back to Kingsfold: you may need to wait for another rambler coming the other way to give the dog a new mission. Follow the stream for about 50m and then turn right over it via a small bridge. Turn left and follow the path between wire fences, eventually reaching a large bridge that takes you over Boldings Brook. A small woodland redolent of wild garlic leads you up to a sandy crop field [2014: caution! trip hazard, a broken wire fence]. Follow the path straight across the field, over a sturdy two-step stile to the railway.

8 Cross the line carefully, going over a similar stile, and continue ahead up the left-hand side of a large field. At the top, by a fingerpost, go over a stile in a band of trees into a small meadow. Keep ahead towards a house and take a path at the end leading through a wooden gate to a residential road with modern houses. Just after the first two houses, turn left on a side road and immediately right on a narrow but rather brambly path leading out to the main road. Turn left on the busy main A24 road, crossing carefully back to the Owl where the walk began.

Getting there

By car: The Owl is unmistakable on the A24 main London-Worthing road. If coming from the London area, it is close to the Surrey border, just over 2 miles =3½ km after the roundabout at the end of the dual carriageway.

By bus/train: Metrobus 93 runs between Horsham and Dorking, stopping at the Owl, including two-hourly on Sundays. Check the timetable.
